A QUESTION ABOUT Brown's Iron Bitters ANSWERED.

The question has probably been asked thousands of times, "What is Brown's Iron Bitters cure for?" Well, it doesn't. But it does cure any disease for which a reputable physician would prescribe IRON. Physicians recognize iron as the best restorative agent known to man. The manufacturer of this article claims his firm will substantiate the assertion that there are more preparations of iron than of any other substance used in medicine. This shows conclusively that iron is acknowledged to be one of the most important factors in successful medical practice. It is, however, a remarkable fact, that prior to the discovery of BROWN'S IRON BITTERS no perfectly satisfactory iron combination had ever been found.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS—the teeth cause headache, or produce constipation—all other iron medicines do. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS cures Indigestion, Biliousness, Weakness, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Chills and Fevers, Tired Feeling, General Debility, Pain in the Side, Back or Limbs, Headache and Neuralgia—for all these ailments iron is prescribed daily.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, however, does not act so quickly. It acts slowly. Like all other thorough medicines, it acts a minute. When taken by men the first symptom of benefit is renewed energy. The muscles then become strong, the digestion improves, the bowels are active. In women the complexion becomes rarer and paler. The eyes begin at once to brighten; the skin clears up; healthy color comes to the cheeks; nervousness disappears; functional derangements become regularized; if a woman is taking iron, she can conceive and supply the child. Remember Brown's Iron Bitters is the ONLY iron medicine that is not injurious. Physicians and Druggists recommend it.

THE VOICE OF THE CHURCH

IT WILL SOON BE HEARD ON THE LABOR QUESTION.

A Council to Be Held this Summer to Promote It—What Will Be Expected of Catholic Workmen—Knights of Labor in Politics—Other Labor Affairs.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Cardinal Gibbons refuses to say anything of his intended action on the labor question. Before giving his views to the public, he will call a council of the eleven archbishops of the American hierarchy, and the decisive steps will be taken which will leave no doubt of the church's attitude. From a close companion of the cardinal, a reporter received some intimation regarding the probable character of the forthcoming pronouncements.

The right of laboring men to combine for their common benefit will be conceded, and all such lawful combinations will receive the blessings of the church. But Catholics will be forbidden to take part in boycotts or other infringements of the rights of citizens, and they will be forbidden to join any organization which practices intimidation, whether of a violent or other character. No Catholic will be permitted to become a member of any order which binds its members to secrecy or blind obedience to the dictates of leaders. Secret passwords may be permitted, but a Catholic must have no secret which cannot be rescued by the confessional if necessary. It will also be proposed that a closer relation be brought about between Catholic members of labor organizations and the Catholic clergy.

The object of this is to prevent Catholic laboring men from drifting off from the church on account of their association with Protestants, and to keep them from adopting theories which are antagonistic to the church's dogmas. The necessity of this course has been demonstrated of late by the number of Catholics who have, innocently perhaps, taken up ideas which the church frowns upon, and will probably condemn outright in the near future. It will not be proposed, however, to make the clergy meddlers in labor affairs. They will be merely instructed to be vigilant, invite confidence and counsel members of their flock who belong to trades unions.

From the source mentioned above it was also learned that Cardinal Gibbons' position in the McGlynn case is simply this: He likes Dr. McGlynn personally and does not condemn him for advocating general property in land, for that doctrine has not yet been pronounced heretical by the pope speaking ex-cathedra; but he does blame Dr. McGlynn for rebellion against his ecclesiastical superior and dabbling in politics to an extent unbecoming his priestly character.

It is probable that the council of archbishops will be held in Baltimore early in the summer. It seems that at present a large majority of the prelates are inclined to look with favor on labor organizations now existing, but a few are violently opposed to them. Among these is the venerable Archbishop Fenwick, of St. Louis, the oldest prelate in the hierarchy. He has pronounced the Knights of Labor an unlawful body, and has denounced their methods as barbarous. However, since most of the bishops do not hold Fenwick's views, it is almost certain the council will adopt the mild measures mentioned above.

Successful Knights.

NORWICH, Conn., June 8.—The Knights of Labor and the Democrats elected seven out of twelve officers voted for in the city election yesterday, including one alderman, four councilmen, city treasurer and one sheriff.

The Republicans saved out of the wreck an alderman, the clerk of the common council, city collector, one sheriff and the water commissioners. The Knights of Labor fired salutes and paraded the streets with a brass band, thus revealing their identity to the public. Heretofore they have existed sub rosa, although they elected a state senator from this district last fall, defeating ex-Mayor Osgood. This result is partly attributed by the Democrats to the action of the Republican caucus last Friday evening, ex-Mayor Osgood presiding, in excluding Irish Republicans, on the ground that they were not Republican voters. The joint city government is now evenly divided, the Knights of Labor and the Democrats holding six votes and the Republicans six.

Major Carpenter, Republican, having the decisive vote. The Knights of Labor allege that they can control one Republican alderman, thus giving them a majority on a joint ballot.

Eight Versus Nine Hours.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Fully 1,500 members of various organizations of carpenters and joiners assembled in a mass meeting last night to discuss the proposed action of the bosses in endeavoring to restore the old system of a nine-hour working day. Joseph R. Buchanan, P. J. McGuire, grand secretary of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, and William Eliver, president of the Trades assembly, made somewhat lengthy speeches, which were received with loud cheers. The tenor of the speeches was that the men should resist the extension of their working hours, and if need be strike. In case a strike should prove necessary the speakers promised the aid of their respective organizations in helping the men to bring it to a successful conclusion.

Strikers Enjoined.

CLEVELAND, June 8.—At the request of the New York, Pennsylvania & Ohio Railroad company an injunction was served yesterday by the United States circuit court to restrain the striking ore handlers of that company from trespassing on their old fields of labor. It is feared that the striking employees will try to intimidate the Italians and others who are being imported by the company to take their places, hence the injunction. The ore handlers demand an increase of wages from $1.75 to $2 a day. Should the strike continue much longer, ore must be refused at this port, which would be a serious blow to shipping interests at this season.

Chicago Builders.

CHICAGO, June 8.—The usual morning strike of contractors and owners who have begun work with union men is told at the bricklayers' office. The bosses say that twenty union men began work to-day, after agreeing to be governed by the platform of the Masters' association. The number of union men now at work is estimated at 120.

"About thirty-five master contractors are now at work," said Mr. Downey, "but only upon jobs where but little work is required to finish them. They will all stop when these small ones are finished."

The Miners' Convention.

CINCINNATI, June 8.—The miners' convention to-day was occupied chiefly with the reports of the committee on resolutions and the state of the order. The important points made by the committee on resolutions declared in favor of a working day of eight hours, a system of arbitration and collection of statistics. The proposed changes will be submitted to a vote of the local assemblies of National District Assembly No. 135. The report of the committee on the state of the order showed the various divisions to be in a flourishing condition, and every point recovering from the effect of the local strikes.

Some remedy will be provided for the abolition of the convict system in the south and west. Organizers will at once put in the field for the good of the order and to extend the membership. Of 300,000 miners in the United States only a small portion are included in the organization. The election of officers is exciting some interest, but the members say there is not that scramble for positions that the reports would indicate. To the candidates in the field for district master workman—Lynn, of Kansas, and Phillips and Costello, of Pennsylvania, already reported—may be added W. T. Lewis, of Shawnee, O. Zanesville, Marietta and Pittsburg are all spoken of as the next place of meeting of the National convention.

Iron and Steel Workers.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 8.—The Iron and Steel Workers' convention, which has been in special session at National hall since Saturday, completed the work of forming a National District assembly of the Knights of Labor, and adjourned to-day. During the session telegrams were received congratulating them upon the organization so successfully effected. Officers were elected and resolutions adopted. A charter has been applied for and will be received in a few days.

DOMESTIC TRAGEDY.

The Difference in Faith in a Pittsburgh Family Results in Death.

PITTSBURG, June 8.—Frederick Hermann, a German about thirty-four years of age, with his wife and three children, two boys and a little girl, have been living near Baggs avenue, in the Thirty-second ward, Mount Washington. Mr. Hermann was an Evangelical Lutheran, while his wife belonged to the Roman Catholic church. Mr. Hermann had all the children baptized in his faith. Mrs. Hermann, not content with such an arrangement, wanted to have the youngest child, a little girl, nineteen months old, baptised in the Catholic faith. Yesterday evening, when her husband returned from his work Mrs. Hermann told him that she had had Lizzie baptized in the Catholic faith. His countenance fell and he began trembling. With a wild gleam in his eyes and a shaky voice, he said: "If you have done so, I shall die and you shall die."

He turned and locked the door. Mrs. Hermann, badly frightened, jumped through an open window at the back of the house, which is built on a hillside. He leaped after her, and chased her through the lot into that of a neighbor, where she ran into the arms of Mr. Lidorf, crying "Save me!" The infuriated husband dragged her to a little ravine on the lower side of the house. Picking up a brick he struck her two or three times over the head, stunning her, and left her, thinking she was dead. He then rushed into the house, and with a razor nearly severed the head of the babe from its body, killing it almost instantly. He then cut his own throat several times. It is thought he will not recover. Mrs. Hermann is in a fair way to come out all right.

Killed By a Falling Scaffold.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Public Printer Benedict has been cutting down the force in the government office, and complaint was made that he was clipping the service in order to make a reform record. Mr. Benedict said yesterday: "The money to our credit for June is inadequate to keep the working force fully employed. The average expenses for April and May of this quarter were about $18,000 per month, leaving $14,000 for June, and the forthcoming volume of the agricultural report which is already printed but which has been delayed for illustrations. This work is printed and bound from a special appropriation of $300,000, and had it been received as expected all furloughs for this month would have been obviated. When congress adjourned I discharged probably 125, but a fair percentage of these have been restored. I must keep within bounds. The general work of the office is unusually well advanced. The allotments of some of the departments for the year are practically exhausted. The discharges of last Thursday were such as occur from time to time in the office and regulated by individual cases and the necessities of the office.

Killed By Corcoran Improving.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The collapse of a scaffold on a new building in the southeastern section of the city this morning resulted in the death of John Clark and the serious injury of six other workmen. The building is a large stone structure in course of erection for a cold storage purpose, and the scaffold held a number of large stones which proved too great a strain. The men were sitting under the scaffold waiting for the rain to cease so that they could begin work.

Quarantine Established.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The Marine hospital service is informed that rigid quarantine has been established at Tampa, Fla., and along the coast. Passengers are detained for fifteen days, and baggage and mail fumigated.

Fleet Ordered to New Haven.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Secretary Whitney has ordered the North Atlantic fleet to proceed to New Haven, Conn., to participate in the ceremonies at the dedication of the soldiers' and sailor's monument on June 17.

Russia Raises Import Duties.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The state department is informed that Russia has raised import duties on iron and steel, and manufactures of these metals 15 to 30 per cent.

Actor's Monument Unveiled.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Edwin Booth delivered the dedicatory address at the unveiling of the actor's monument in Evergreen cemetery yesterday. Willie Winter read a poem. Joe Jefferson and other prominent members of the profession were present. Dr. Hough-ton, of the "Little Church Around the Corner," offered prayer.

VEDEX BY LABOR.

A New Factor in the New Hampshire Senatorial Fight.

CONCORD, N. H., June 8.—The attitude of Gen. Marston in the senatorial contest is considered of more importance now than it was a few days ago. If the reports of his hard work and sudden increase of strength are true he may prove a more powerful opponent to Chandler than Rollins. It now looks out that a factor of Gen. Marston's strength will be the labor element if it can be brought into line. His friends have been laboring quietly in this direction and he is probably the only candidate now in the field who can marshal them. Gen. Marston's record in the legislature and his views on the labor question are favorably received by them. If they conclude to attend the caucus Thursday night and be bound by its results, there is little chance of there being much of a bolt. There is a considerable number of Democratic Knights of Labor, and if they unite with the Republican labor men the whole senatorial fight will be put on an entirely new complexion.

The Chandler men are a little disturbed at the changes that have taken place recently. The possibility of the sixty Labor men uniting irrespective of party is a new problem. Just how Chandler can convince them that he is a good Labor man is a hard thing to discover. This, with Gen. Marston's recent prominence and the perplexing long term question, coupled with murmurs of an unseen power in the shape of the Boston & Maine railroad influence, added to the running fire Rollins has kept up from the first, marks the path to the senatorial chair for Chandler difficult to follow. The Democrats have not yet organized for the fight in any particular direction. They are interested spectators of the internal feuds which are splitting the Republican ranks and are waiting to see how things come out. If they are given a good chance to combine with either of the factions to beat Chandler they will do so, preferring almost anybody to "Tallapoosa Bill," as he is called.

Illiteracy.

The Republicans take especial delight, it seems, in calling attention to the fact that there are 200,000 illiterates in Kentucky; and they want to hold the Democrats responsible for this condition of affairs. Compare Democratic Kentucky with Republican Massachusetts on this point and Kentucky has nothing to be ashamed of. The estimated number of illiterates is:

Kentucky.....	200,000
Massachusetts.....	120,000

The population of the two States is:

Kentucky.....	1,648,900
Massachusetts.....	1,783,055

Of these inhabitants the colored people number in:

Kentucky.....	271,451
Massachusetts.....	18,697

Here's a significant fact the Republicans have overlooked in their charges. Of course all negroes are not illiterates, but as a race they were ignorant and unlearned when released from slavery. Leaving the colored population out and we venture the assertion that there are no more illiterates in Democratic Kentucky to-day than there are in Republican Massachusetts.

Six hundred and thirty dollars have been subscribed for a confederate monument at Georgetown, Ky.

The colored Republicans talk of nominating a State ticket and going it alone this year. The Covington Commonwealth thinks the contest between them and the white Republicans would be a close one.

"The reduction of the public debt to the extent of $100,000,000 a year," says the New York Star, "is the showing Cleveland's administration makes in the fulfillment of the pledge of the Chicago platform."

J. W. UTTER, President of the Duckworth Club, of Cincinnati, has the thanks of the BULLETIN for an invitation to attend the opening of the new rooms of that banner Democratic organization, this evening.

The New York Herald says: "Senator Sherman's great speech in Springfield, Ill., will probably prove to be the banana-peel of his political career. The future will be accomplished in three movements—a slip up, a slip down and a slip out."

The case of the Commonwealth against Lucretia Munday, pending in the Fayette Circuit Court, has been continued till next fall. She is charged with aiding in the murder of her husband, in 1883, to secure his life insurance, and the case is said to have already cost the State $30,000.

The thirty-second annual meeting of the State Medical Society will be held at Paducah, June 15th, 16th and 17th. Dr. Brooks, the Chairman of the Committee on Arrangements, has made every provision to entertain the members. Dr. W. H. Wathen, of Louisville, is the President, and Dr. Steel Bailey, of Stanford, is the Secretary.

The Democrats of the district composed of Bracken, Pendleton and Grant counties are to hold a convention at Falmouth, June 21, to nominate a candidate for State Senator. Precinct meetings to select delegates to the convention will be held June 18th. The fight is between Hon. A. J. Bradford, of Bracken, and Hon. J. T. Simon, of Pendleton.

Storm Signals.

As the coming of a great storm is heralded by the display of cautionary signals, so is the approach of that dread and fatal disease, consumption of the lungs, usually announced in advance by pimples, blotches, eruptions, ulcers, glandular swellings, and kindred outward manifestations of the internal blood poison, which, if not promptly expelled from the system, attacks the delicate tissues of the lungs, causing them to ulcerate and break down. Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is the great remedy for all diseases having their origin in bad blood. It improves the appetite and digestion, increases nutrition and builds up the wasted system.

Excitement in Texas.

Great excitement has been caused in the vicinity of Paris, Tex., by the remarkable recovery of Mr. J. E. Corley, who was so helpless he could not turn in bed, or raise his head; everybody said he was dying of consumption. A trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery was sent him. Finding relief, he bought a large bottle and a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills; by the time he had taken two boxes of pills and two bottles of the Discovery, he was well and had gained in flesh thirty-six pounds. Trial bottles of this great discovery for consumption free at J. C. Pecor & Co.'s and S. P. Campbell & Co.'s, Aberdeen, O.

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Sut, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles and was cured of rheumatism of ten years standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Bellville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my twenty years' experience is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the liver, kidneys or blood. Only half a dollar a bottle at J. C. Pecor & Co.'s and S. P. Campbell & Co.'s, Aberdeen, O.

Two to Make a Man.

"Fred Gibbs was sergeant major in the One Hundred and Forty-eight New York infantry, and one of his chums was my friend, Horace Rumsey, of Seneca Falls, who was first sergeant of Company A in the same regiment. Gibbs' wound was an ugly one. The ball tore through his cheeks and mouth and knocked out his teeth and rendered him speechless. A little further along the line lay his friend Rumsey, unable to move, with a bullet wound in the thigh. In getting off the field Gibbs found his old friend, and in sign language made known his loss of speech. 'Can you walk?' inquired Rumsey. Gibbs nodded his head. 'Well,' said Rumsey, 'I can talk, but I can't walk a step. Let me climb on your back and you walk and I'll talk.' The two of us will just make a man.' Gibbs knelt down and let his friend climb on his shoulders and the pair made their way safely to the rear. The rear guard stopped them and asked searching questions, which Rumsey answered vigorously, while Gibbs stood mute. They were passed."—New York Sun.

None Wanted.

A practical joke at Albany, who knew of an old farmer with 100 bushels of lime on hand, sent him up to the State house to ask for a certain senator, who might be induced to buy the whole lot.

"I found him," explained the old man as he returned, "and would you believe that he flew mad in a mint, and said that he would kick me but for my gray hairs! Darn it! If he hasn't got any whitewashing to do why couldn't he say so in a civil way?"—Wall Street News.

Knew Yearling Water.

"Ah—um—but I guess you don't know the rules and provisions of the interstate commerce law," he growled, after drinking from the cooler in the passenger coach. "What is it?" asked the conductor. "Why the rules of that law prescribe that the coolers shall be filled with fresh water once a week. Better instruct your brakeman, old boy, for I'm dead on to you. I live alongside of a mill pond at home, and I know yearling water as well as the next man."—Wall Street News.

A Decided Blonde.

Bickley—Would you call Miss Starr a blonde?

Dingley—Well, yes; but not a very decided one.

Bickley—That's just where you are wrong. She's a blonde at all, she's a very decided one. I never saw more emphatic decision than she displayed one night last week when I asked her to marry me.—Tid Bits.

FREAKS OF MEMORY.

THERE IS NO FACULTY SO INEXPLICABLE AS RECOLLECTION.

Notable Individual Instances of Forgetfulness—Causes That Have Produced Singular Results—John Hunter's Failure—Account of a Singular Accident.

There is no faculty so inexplicable as memory. It is not merely that its powers vary so much in different individuals as that every one has found his or her own liable to the most unaccountable changes. Why vivid impressions should seem to become entirely obliterated and then suddenly spring to light without the slightest effort of our own is a mystery which is not easily explained. Many have experienced this in trying to recall a name, a tune or a quotation perhaps, and then have it present itself unbidden when considerable time has elapsed and the thoughts are on another subject, and also many must know the uneasy feeling with which one will search and search for a missing article, and the relief when, in some mysterious way, the knowledge of where it is flashes across the mind and the article is found. A retentive memory is considered of such importance that it is the first object in education. And so essential did the ancients regard it for any work of imagination that they described the muse as "daughters of memory."

There are many examples of this great power in men of high abilities. Themistocles, we are told, could call by name every citizen of Athens, and the number was 20,000. Cyrus knew the name of every soldier in his army. Hortensius had so great a memory that he recollects, not only every word he himself had meditated, but every sentence of his adversary's oration, even to the titles and documents brought forward to support a case against him.

It is not at all strange to find a memory retentive on some subjects, and extremely defective on others. A lady of my acquaintance could tell the number of stairs contained in each flight in the houses in which she had lived, and it seemed almost impossible for her to retain for any length of time a remembrance of things more important. Miss Addison, daughter of the celebrated Addison, seemed to inherit her father's memory without his sound power of understanding. She could repeat any part of her father's works, in fact the whole of many, but could not speak or write an intelligent sentence of her own. She was a perfect imbecile. The power of calculation entirely from memory is surprising. The famous mathematician Wallis could extract the cube root from a sum of thirty figures in bed and in the dark. It is said George III never forgot a face once seen or a name he had once heard.

John Hunter's memory once failed him in the house of a friend. He totally forgot where he was or where his own home was. He was conscious of the weakness and tried to restore his recollections by looking out of the window to ascertain where he was. After a little rest, memory gradually returned. An actor once performing in a play which had long run all at once forgot entirely the speech he was to make. When he got behind the scenes, he said: "How could I be expected to remember it forever? Have I not repeated it every night for the last thirty nights?" On one occasion a gentleman had to turn to his companion, when about to leave his name at a door where they had called, to ask him what it was, so completely and suddenly had all memory of it left him.

After severe illness and after enduring hardships loss of memory is not unusual. Thucydides relates that some who recovered from the plague at Athens lost their memory so completely that no friend or relation and nothing connected with their personal identity was remembered. Mental shocks frequently interrupt, or in some cases utterly put an end to that exercise which the union of body and mind produces. A fall, a sudden blow, may suddenly obliterate all recollection.

By a fall from his horse, a gentleman who was an excellent scholar received an injury on his head. He recovered, but his learning had vanished, and he had actually to commence his education by starting at the first step and learning his alphabet. Another scholar, meeting with a similar accident, lost none of his acquirements but his Greek, and that was gone entirely. There is on record the account of an accident which befell Dr. Broussaud, and which resulted in apoplexy. When he recovered he had utterly lost the power of speaking or writing proper names or any substantive, but memory supplied adjectives very readily, and by their application distinguished whatever he wished to mention. If he wished to speak of any one, he would designate him by calling him by the shape or color for which he was remarkable. If his hair was red, he called him "red;" if above the usual height, he would call him "tall." If he wanted his hat he asked for his "black." He was an excellent botanist, but he was obliged to make use of the same method in speaking of the plants, because he could not mention the name of one of them. A musician was known to call his flute a "tuffe," thus using all the letters of the right word, which it was impossible for him to speak. An extraordinary case of periodical recollection occurred in an old man who had forgotten all the events of his younger days, unless they were related to his memory by some occurrence, yet, every night regularly, he recollected some one particular circumstance of his early life. A gentleman of my acquaintance said he was once in great danger of drowning, and in a very brief space of time every event of his life came vividly to his mind as completely as though produced on canvas.

A sad thing has been related of a young clergyman who was accidentally shot in the forehead by a friend just two days before his marriage was to have taken place. For a long time his life was despaired of. He recovered, but his mind was impaired. His memory retained nothing but the idea of his approaching marriage. Everything was absorbed in that one recollection; his whole conversation related to the preparations. He would never speak on any other subject. It was always within two days of the wedding. Years and years went on. Youth passed away, and still in two days more his wedding would take place, and in this condition he reached his 80th year, and sank into the grave with that one idea alone in his mind.—Boston Herald.

Just Invariably.

Long centuries ago the old Greeks, when anything went wrong, blamed the gods for it. Since then the gods have grown weary of the business and closed the shop. So nowadays, when things go wrong, men blame their wives. Always! Oh, no, not always. Just invariably.—Burlette.

PIANO RECITAL.

Closing Musicals at Hayswood Female Seminary.

The closing exercises of the school year at Hayswood Female Seminary were commenced last evening. The music class gave its closing musical in the parlors at the Seminary. But few invitations were issued, as the entertainment was intended for the parents of the members of the class and their special friends. The event proved a very pleasant and enjoyable one to the guests. The class has been in charge of Miss Wilkins the past session, and the selections rendered by the different pupils showed a marked progress in their studies that must have been very gratifying to the parents and friends, as well as to Miss Wilkins and Dr. Hays. Most of the members of the class are very young, but their selections were given with an ease and grace that evinced the care and instruction of an efficient teacher.

The exercises commenced at 8 o'clock and were over at 10 o'clock. The following is the programme:

Waltz.....	Diabelli
Miss Mary H. January and Miss Wilkins,	Sonatine.....
Sonatine.....	Beethoven
Twilight.....	Miss Fannie Fraze,
Waltz.....	Guy
How Can I Leave Thee?.....	arr. Zogbaum
The Sigh.....	Schad
La Primavera.....	Master Horace Cochran.
Sonata, Op. 49, No. 2.....	Egghard
Allegretto, Op. 128.....	Miss Hattie Johnson.
Misses M. Evans, E. Wall, H. Johnson and F. Fraze.	Sonata, Op. 49, No. 2.....
Annie Laurie.....	Lange
Miss Ethelene Wall.	Allegretto, Op. 128.....
Schad	Chwatal
Master Horace Cochran.	Misses M. Evans, E. Wall, H. Johnson and F. Fraze.

The art reception will be given this evening. The entire grounds of the Seminary will be thrown open to the public. The work of the pupils in painting and ornamental wood-work will be displayed in the different rooms of the building. No formal exercises will be held, as it is the wish of Dr. Hays to make the evening one of social enjoyment to the citizens of Maysville and vicinity. Haucke's Reed and Brass Band have kindly consented to give an open air concert on the veranda of the Seminary during the evening, and a cordial invitation is given to the public to be present.

Notice to Tax-Payers.

I, or one of my deputies, will be at the following named places on the days herein specified for the purpose of collecting taxes for the year 1887, and all back taxes unpaid:

LONDON CABLE LETTER.

THE POPE'S ADVICE IN THE ITALIAN MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

King Humbert's Recent Course to Establish Friendly Relations Between the Vatican and the Quirinal—Great Distress in Hungary—Foreign News.

LONDON, June 8.—Yesterday's Catholic victories in some of the Italian municipal elections are thought to be the result of the pope's recent advice that Catholics should take a more prominent part in politics than heretofore. The exhortation could hardly have been so immediately effective, however, if it had not been supplemented by a favorable attitude on the part of the government toward the Catholic candidates. In some cases the government caused it to be known that coalition candidates would be looked upon with favor. This has led to compromise tickets in which the ultramontane element has a respectable showing.

The word ultramontane, in fact, no longer represents the Catholic party, unless it is to be given a different meaning from that which it acquired in the less recent conflicts between the vatican and the quirinal. King Humbert's recent course indicates that the desire for re-establishment of friendly relations between those two depositaries of power in Italy is mutual, and it is whispered that the next time the Italian treasury draws its check for the enormous sum annually set apart for the pope, the money will not be refused as heretofore on the ground that his holiness cannot accept compensation for being deprived of his rights as a sovereign.

A prominent engineer points to the fact that the floods which are devastating the Theiss valley of Hungary are the direct result of human stupidity and not a visitation of Providence. The river should never have been diked at all. The topographical conditions of the country demand the annual inundation of a part of the valley. When devoted to agriculture under the ancient system this region was marvelously fertile on account of the annual floods. The attempt to prevent them has led to a false belief in the security of the inhabitants, and encouraged permanent establishments which suffer greatly when nature bursts the barriers which men vainly set up against her forces.

The writer instances the lower Mississippi valley in America as a similar illustration of his theory. He regards the treatment of the Nile as affording an example of the true method of settlement along great rivers, the periodical flooding of the adjacent country being utilized as an aid to the growth of crops which in the end become a source of greater revenue than can be realized by forcing an artificial use of the river and its surroundings.

It is stated that the foreign office is greatly incensed by the statements of the Russian ambassador at Constantinople that large sums of money were used in bribing Turkish officials to use their influence with the sultan in favor of the convention for an English protectorate of Egypt. Very strong representations on the subject, it is understood, are to be forwarded to St. Petersburg and grave consequences may possibly ensue unless M. Neldoff's statements are repudiated by his superiors.

German General Drowned.

PARIS, June 8.—The Journal du Havre in an article upon the recent Champagne disaster, says that all unclaimed baggage was brought to Havre. Among this unclaimed baggage were few valises and two or three trunks. These have just been opened for the purpose of tracing their owners. In one of the trunks a singular discovery was made. On the trunk was the name of a German staff officer. In the trunk cards bearing the name and rank were found. There were also in his trunk very accurate and complete sketches of various forts and protected places in France, which were clearly the work of a spy. There were other papers in the trunk which clearly established the identity of the officer in question, who, it is now believed, was lost during the disaster.

Proposition to the Powers.

LONDON, June 8.—It is stated that Russia has finally determined in view of the necessity for doing something in the present aspect of the Bulgarian situation to negotiate with the powers for the election of a temporary prince of Bulgaria, pending the final settlement of the Balkan question, but it is not likely that the powers will accept this proposal.

Awful Devastation.

VIENNA, June 8.—The distress in Hungary increases hourly. Numerous lives have been lost, and entire herds of cattle have been drowned at Makó. The flood has reached Czand, and fully 50,000 acres of wheat land will soon be inundated. Czongard is submerged. It is calculated that 50,000 families have been ruined by the floods.

The Jubilee Cup.

LONDON, June 8.—This was the first day of the Ascot Heath race meeting. The race for the Jubilee cup was won by R. Viner's four-year-old bay colt Minting. The Duke of Westminster's four-year-old brown colt St. Mirin was second and Mr. J. Hammond's three-year-old bay or brown colt Aintree third. There were five starters.

America to Hear Wagnerian Music.

LONDON, June 8.—Herr Seidl and Stanton, of the American National Opera company, have gone to Bayreuth to conclude a contract for the production of Wagner's lyric dramas in America. Herr Seidl has acquired the American right to perform Wagner's symphony, which he will produce in autumn.

Is Davitt Insane?

LONDON, June 8.—Michael Davitt has been unfortunate in championing the cause of his friends. They excuse his extravagant utterances on the ground that his emotional nature is overcome by the heartrending scenes attending the Bodkyke evictions. One warm supporter says he believes Davitt's reason is affected.

Pretext Furnished by a Lie.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 8.—It is asserted that the recent story that fourteen Bokharan officials at Kerki were murdered by Afghans because they refused to incite the inhabitants to resist the Russian advance was a pure invention, being simply a pretext for the occupation of Kerki.

Will Go Out of Business.

BALTIMORE, June 8.—The Merchants Mutual Marine Insurance company, of Baltimore, incorporated in 1849 with a capital of $300,000, will go out of business. The stockholders have voted to wind up its affairs at once. An examination of the assets and liabilities of the concern shows that, after paying all indebtedness, there will be $70,000 over and above the capital to distribute among the stockholders. The reason given for the dissolution is that the small capital of the company prevented equal competition with the gigantic companies.

Two Chinamen in Irons.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Two Chinamen in irons were among the steerage passengers by the steamer La Normandie, which arrived here Saturday from Havre. The captain told Collector Magone they were put aboard at Havre by order of the French government. He said they had arrived at Havre on a ship from San Francisco and were not allowed to stay. The collector will not allow them to land until he hears from the state department at Washington.

"Hypocrite" a Success.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The new melodrama, "Hypocrite," by Lawrence Marston, was presented at the Fourteenth street theater last night before a large and critical audience. The scene is laid in New Orleans before the war, and some of the situations are highly pathetic and dramatic. The piece proved to be a great success.
